1	Carey Schroeder	T.I.M.E. Community School	To Whom It May Concern; It is a pleasure to recommend Dr. Ramirez and his vision. His steadfast commitment to high quality education for all has been nothing short of awe-inspiring. I first met Dr. Ramirez when my son, now a senior in college, was in the 6th grade. I served with him on some of the first parental advisory groups implemented at the middle school, until that time Larchmont had only been an elementary school. Together with the Principal and a few highly interested parents we forged what the school would look like going forward. With a strong commitment to diversity we implemented programs in support of all students' needs no matter what background they came from. It was through this initial laying of a solid foundation, dedication and commitment that the community and its policies thrive today. It is not a surprise that his dedication, perseverance and commitment have once again shined through via the Times Community Schools Charter and its mission. I am confident that with approval of the Times Charter he will be in a position once again, to positively affect the lives of so many. Most sincerely, Carey Schroeder
