Purpose

California’s 2021–22 State Budget committed major funding investments to expand both transitional kindergarten (TK) and the California State Preschool Program (CSPP). This marks a new chapter in universal prekindergarten (UPK) implementation using a mixed-delivery system, consisting of CSPP, TK, and other preschool programs in California.

UPK implementation is a part of the California Department of Education’s (CDE) Preschool through Third Grade (P–3) Alignment initiative. This initiative is focused on supporting strategies for both horizontal and vertical alignment and coherence across grades and systems, as well as improving the coordination of policies and practices for UPK across transitions to TK and kindergarten and through third grade and beyond.

This year’s budget also included several workforce development, recruitment, and retention investments to support a robust UPK workforce with a focus on increasing the number of teachers qualified to teach TK in order to meet the demand of a growing TK student population and raising the competencies of the current CSPP, TK, and kindergarten workforce.

The CDE and the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing (CTC) recognize the power of a diverse education workforce that reflects the community, including the language and cultural characteristics of the communities they serve. This year’s investments provide an unprecedented opportunity to build and maintain a diverse pipeline of qualified and effective P–3 educators including teachers, teacher aides, and special education teachers. These investments can support communities to maintain the stability and diversity of their early education workforce and address equity by recruiting and retaining educators that reflect the cultural and linguistic backgrounds of their diverse California communities and providing opportunities for these educators, especially multilingual educators and educators of color, to advance in their careers.

Below are summaries of the key investments and policy changes included in the 2021–22 State Budget that supports the professional development and recruitment of the CSPP, TK, and kindergarten workforce. These investments can be leveraged to serve the goal of building a highly qualified, culturally, and linguistically diverse early education workforce. Several of these investments highlight the opportunities to utilize funds for activities specifically designed to support diversifying the workforce—for example, the Teacher Residency Grant Program and the California Classified School Employee Teacher Credentialing Program.
